The TL-PFG utilizes dual Fanuc M-3iA Pick and Place Robots to top load product into opened cases.

AFA says the system can integrate with a wide range of upstream equipment including vertical form fill seal systems, horizontal flow wrappers, as well as bottle and pouch filling systems.

Typical product applications include bottles, bags of product, pouches, sachets, cans, and flow wrap packages.

The TL-PFG integrates with an upstream case erector, which erects a case and discharges the case onto a conveyor in a top load orientation.

The TL-PFG uses a flighted conveyor to direct the case into the correct position for top loading.

An iRVision system is integrated with an upstream conveyor which detects the position of the product.

This feature is essential in order for the Fanuc M-3iA robots to pick
